

Since 1973: Dance
Factory Celebrating 45 Years!

The Dance Factory was established in 1973, and continues to be one of the leading dance schools in Colorado. We have an excellent reputation for training the young dancer as well as those who wish to excel. Owner and director, Lynn Bassett, is dedicated to bringing the best dance instruction to her school. The Dance Factory offers instruction in tap, jazz, ballet and hip-hop. Currently our instructors Gina Haug & Brittany Stringer are receiving certification for the Paul Morgan Technique. This technique implements the traditional dance training of ballet and jazz combined with Paula's own unique and ingenious style. This combination develops the body into a perfectly aligned, well-defined, agile and powerful dancers form. Classes are offered for all ages from pre-school and up. We provide the opportunity for our dancers to develop grace, coordination, and sense of rhythm in an environment that is fun and supportive. For those students who wish to have more, the Dance Factory offers a competitive program which works on technique in multiple styles of dance, learn routines, perform at competitions, community events and attend master classes and conventions.
